

As the data below show, Hispanics* are quickly becoming a population with a national presence. The most dramatic Latino population growth has occurred in "nontraditional" states, and Hispanics are now the largest minority in the country. Given that almost half of Hispanics are under 25 years old, they will constitute a large segment of the future U.S. population, workforce, and electorate.

South Carolina Compared to the Nation

- ▼ South Carolina is the state with the 32nd-largest Latino population.¹
- ▼ Between 1990 and 2000, the growth rate of the Latino population in South Carolina ranked sixth in the country.¹
- ▼ Of all states, South Carolina has the 38th-largest share of Latinos when compared to the total state population.¹
