

Steady Job Growth Continues

But Latino Unemployment Rate Climbs Faster than National Rate

Professional Services Lead Job Growth

Professional and business services added 67,000 jobs in September. Specifically, consulting services and administrative support saw the highest growth. As of 2015, there were 8,600 Latinos employed in this sector, accounting for fewer than 1% of all workers employed in this space.

The Employment Situation for Latino Workers in September 2016

The U.S. Department of Labor reported today that employers added 156,000 jobs in September, lower than the 175,000 jobs economists expected to see. However, the decrease is common when the economy is nearing full employment. While the national unemployment rate inched up from 4.9% in August to 5% in September, the Latino unemployment rate increased from 5.6% to 6.4%. This is the highest rate since September 2015, when the unemployment rate for Latinos reached 6.4%. However, this rise could be due to an increase in workers moving between jobs and new workers entering the labor force to look for work.
