Key Findings in Florida

1. Florida's top issues are consistent with Latinos across the country--Inflation, jobs, health care costs, crime/guns, housing cost, and immigration. That order matches the national order.

- Food and basic necessities, housing/rent, gasoline and health insurance are the principal worries regarding inflation
- Jobs concern overwhelming the need for better pay, with better benefits a distant second
- For healthcare, the costs of insurance and prescription drugs worry Florida Latinos deeply
- When Latinos say crime/guns worry them, the priority is overwhelmingly guns and mass shootings, with traditional crime concerns ranked far below.

2. Immigration: Still important, but not as central as in years past:

- Latino voters STRONGLY favor a path to citizenship for long-term immigrants and Dreamers as top two concerns
- Border enforcement is a distant third

3. Reproductive Rights are strongly preferred—by a margin of 65% to 28%, Florida Latinos oppose efforts to restrict/ban abortion rights, no matter their own personal beliefs on the issue.

Key Findings Continued:

4. Medicaid expansion is strongly desired in Florida (79% in favor to 7% opposed)

5. Climate concern is high, and Florida Latinos think climate action is urgently needed to forestall weather and climate related catastrophes. Only 7% doubt the reality of climate change.

6. Florida Latinos are unique in trusting Republicans (34%) over Democrats (30%) to best handle their important issues. Yet on all but one individual issues asked, Democrats are preferred to Republicans to “best handle” the issue.

7. Approval numbers show Biden having lower approval than elsewhere (36-57), and the GOP House is also slightly underwater (42-44).

8. In 2024, 19% of Latinos in Florida will be voting in their first presidential election

- 15% for the first time in ANY federal election
- Another 15% voted for the first time in 2020
- 35% of Florida's Latino electorate is new since Hillary Clinton and Donald Trump faced off in 2016.
